

I was just made aware that a number of large financial institutions have petitioned to be made exempt from Indiana's no call list. This is utterly ludicrous. I signed up for the no call list because I chose to not have sales personnel from any location contact me by phone. This includes the very banks and financial institutions that believe they have the right to intrude on my privacy.

If I desired their phone contact I would have signed a form exempting them from the no call list. I have been asked by a number of my credit card holders and have replied in each case that I did not want to be contacted. For you to adopt this petition by the Banks and Financial institutions would be a gross injustice to the citizens of this country who have already signed up on caller no call lists throughout this country. I do not wish to be harrassed, I do not wish to be bothered by the Fifth Third Bank, Integra Bank, Bank of America or Old National Bank Corp.

I respectfully ask you to continue to protect my privacy by denying the petition from the previously noted Financial Institutions.

Respectfully,

R. Scott Anslinger
